

MEXICAN REDS WILL SEEK TO SET UP SOVIET RULE

Would Abolish All State Legislatures and Place Reins of Government in Hands of Local Committees.

BY LOUIS P. KIRBY,
(International News Service Staff Correspondent.)

MEXICO CITY, Mex., Nov. 26.—Extremists among the Mexican socialists are demanding revision of the federal constitution and the abolition of some of the soviet principles of government.

Rafael Martinez and other members of the self-styled progressive element of the extreme left wing already are at work upon a bill which will be presented at the present session of congress.

The radicals object to the present system of government in the states of Mexico, which is similar to the state governments of the United States, with governors and state legislatures. They want the state legislatures abolished and the management of affairs placed in the hands of local soviet or committee governments of townships and villages would be administered by councils.

A struggle between the conservative and the soviet system of government seems to be in prospect. Already the radicals have gained notable victories in the fight for reform, but they say they will continue the battle until all their demands are satisfied.

Conservative government officials claim that public sympathy for the socialist and Bolshevik element is waning. A few months ago the radical socialists seemed to have the upper hand and they looked to Provisional President de la Huerta for his support. However, the provisional president proved a moderate, and the conservatives began to take hope.

Conservatives opened a campaign for the propaganda, pointing out the bloodshed and suffering brought to the country through continuous revolutions and absence of a stable government. They, too, seek changes in the federal constitution, particularly in article 27 and article 123. Property owners and the influential Catholic clergy as well as the oil interests are against article 27, which leaves the right of property ownership in doubt. Employers object to article 123 on the ground it puts responsibilities upon them which should rest upon the state.

The responsibilities include the maintaining of schools for children and workers and the opening of public centers and recreation places in industrial districts. It is insisted by the employers that article 123 would, if rigidly enforced, create confusion and cause a serious clash of authority. They say there is no reason why the owner of a shoe factory or any other industrial plant should be called upon to build a town hall or maintain a public school. The plan to put Mexican state affairs in the hands of committees probably will be exhaustively debated.

HAYWOOD CO. HIGH WINS OVER NEWBORN

BROWNSVILLE, Tenn., Nov. 25.—Haywood County High school wound up one of the most successful seasons in the history of the school here on Thanksgiving day, by defeating Newborn High, 115 to 6. Every man on the Haywood team did good work, but that of Richardson, Capt. Thomas, Dulin, Card, McFarland and Norman featured. Richardson frequently made long runs for a touchdown. Card made the most sensational of the game by intercepting a forward pass on his own five-yard line, and going 95 yards through the entire Newborn team, for a touchdown.

McFarland did beautiful work, running interference. The Newborn team put up a good fight and never gave up, but they had little success in either advancing the ball or stopping the Tomcat offense. They made two first downs during the game, while the Tomcats were not held for downs once. The locals have been offered postseason games with M. U. S. of Memphis and Jackson High. It is not known yet which game they will accept. They have defeated Jackson, 33 to 0, already.

WOMAN FATALLY BURNED COOKING HOLIDAY DINNER

While Mrs. Hester Apitzsch, 46 years old, of Ellendale, was preparing Thanksgiving dinner in her home Thursday morning, flames from an oil stove caught her clothing. Within a few seconds her clothing was entirely on fire and she was writhing on the floor in pain. Less than an hour later Mrs. Apitzsch died at St. Joseph's hospital.

She was the wife of William Apitzsch, of the R. W. Snell surgical appliance firm of this city. She was 49 years old, aged 20 and 12, were chopping wood.

Seeing the flames the boys ran into the kitchen to find their mother in agony on the floor. With the aid of neighbors, efforts were made to save Mrs. Apitzsch's life, but to no avail. The McDowell and Monteverde ambulance rushed to St. Joseph's hospital with Mrs. Apitzsch, but she died shortly after the completion of the journey.

The last memory of their mother the boys hold is the extreme fortitude she maintained in spite of her intense suffering. She did not scream once, and while in the ambulance on the way to the hospital told the details of the accident.

At the hospital a priest administered the last sacraments to Mrs. Apitzsch. The Apitzsch family came to Ellendale from West Virginia two years ago. Although it is not definite, the body will probably be taken to the Eastern state for burial. Mrs. Apitzsch is survived by five children. They are: Mrs. Hester Hindman, Robert, Lawrence, Arthur and Raymond.

Jerry Finds Way To Fill Pantries of Squirrels

Little Jerry Lee Seals, three years old, 1044 Poplar avenue, listened intently to the bedtime story being read from The News Scimitar by his father. The story told all about the little squirrels in Court square which were faced by famine because their winter hoard of goodies had been destroyed when the park was renovated. But it gave Jerry an idea.

The morning dawned, and it found Jerry Lee making ready with baskets and paper bags to go to Overton park. He knew the places out there were hundreds of acorns were tucked away under brown leaves ready for their long winter nap.

The squirrels had a merry, merry feast, and like all wise little squirrels, added to the store of peanuts provided by their good friend the cop, a neat little row of acorns on the second shelf of their pantry.

Jerry says if all the little boys will help these nice days that they can fill all the empty pantries before winter comes.
